

I have been lucky enough to have gotten to know and coach Beau Leisure for the past three years. The last two summers, Beau has been a varsity starter for Knoxville as a freshman and sophomore. He has been one of our best pitchers during those two years also. Beau has always been a hard worker inseason and during the offseason. He is always looking for a way to get better. He doesn't miss our offseason workouts. He works with a guy in Des Moines on pitching during the week, but even though he doesn't always throw at our workouts he will always show up, get guys loose, chart pitches, or just encourage guys who are throwing. Beau can be very hard on himself, but also displays the type of confidence you need on your pitching staff

Beau has a lot of young kids that look up to him which he doesn't shy away from saying hi or giving a high five to a younger player. He is always one of the first guys to the field. He is always asking questions or finding things you can work on. He loves the game of baseball. Beau is also his own person which I truly appreciate as coach. He has his own sense of style and personality. He is not influenced by others nor does he get distracted by others opinions. He is who he is and is proud of that. Beau is a good kid who comes from a good family. Any college or university will be lucky to get to know Beau as a person and player.
